

25 June 2025

HKBU Network Security Alert - Fake Emails

Hong Kong Baptist University (HKBU) has received reports that some members of the public and organisations have recently received emails from unknown sources, impersonating HKBU staff and inviting the recipients to participate in fabricated business activities. The emails were sent from email accounts with domain names similar to those of HKBU.

HKBU hereby solemnly declares that the emails in question were not issued by the University, and this incident has been reported to the Police for follow-up. HKBU condemns any acts of impersonation of HKBU and its staff.

The University's official email domain name is "hkbu.edu.hk". Members of the public should remain vigilant if they receive suspicious emails sent from email accounts that closely resemble HKBU's domain name. Individuals or organisations that have received the aforementioned fake emails and subsequently provided their personal information or conducted any financial transactions should contact the Police immediately.

- End -